Projects

SignBridge — Machine Learning Project

- Developed a real-time sign language detection application that utilizes the computer's camera to identify and display translated letters and digits directly on the screen.
- Implemented a scikit-learn classifier based on MediaPipe hand landmarks to accurately track and classify hand gestures, moving away from heavy deep-learning frameworks for optimized performance.

Foodify — Front-End Development Project

- Built a comprehensive food delivery website featuring dedicated and responsive interfaces for both administrators and customers.
- Utilized local storage for efficient state management and secure data retention across active user sessions.

Bank Management System — Console-Based Application

- Developed a menu-driven application in C for account creation and management.
- Implemented deposit, withdrawal, and balance tracking using file handling to ensure data persistence and efficient console-based interaction.
